

Ottawa Week by Week

(By M. L. SCHWARTZ)

WHAT NOW, LITTLE MAN?

Though there is apparently no real crisis in officialdom in face of the coming of the new year, the people are sleeping across this page in the wake of the Government's major decision. It is known that many officials are keeping an anxious watch over the latest developments relative to the lifting of all controls over thousands of commodities and services, especially showing controls on the accounts of possible skyrocketing food prices.

It is evident that officials in Ottawa believe that common sense and common sense will interpret and keep prices within reason until a proper adjustment will take place. At least, they hope for such passive adjustments to come sooner than the main in-the-street seems to think that these will come. But they also hope that law enforcement will come, though such is doubtful.

In all, it is a gloomy picture along Parliament Hill now-days. People may resist buying may continue to buy, but the picture is not so bright. It is doubtful if they can resist eating to the satisfaction of the people, but it is doubtful if they can resist eating to the satisfaction of the people, but it is doubtful if they can resist eating to the satisfaction of the people.

Family Allowances and Human Progress

By R. J. Deachman

In an article in the magazine, "Health", Dr. Blanning reports upon the effect of Family Allowance in Saskatchewan. It is a marvelous story, as he tells it. The story is that in the last two years, yet children have better diets at home and in their schools. Winter Protection Of Small Fruits

Letbridge Experimental Station Weekly Letter.

Winter protection is essential for the successful growing of small fruits in Southern Alberta because the area is generally subject to severe frosts. Experience has shown that even good berries do not afford enough protection and a covering of soil or straw is needed as well. If proper covering and winter protection is employed, every prize garden can produce an abundant supply of small fruits, which are comparable in quality to the kind grown in milder, less rigorous areas.

The fruits that require protection are strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, and currants. Strawberries will sometimes come through without a winter cover, but raspberries and currants will not.

The method of protecting strawberries, berries used as mulch, will cover them with a four to six-inch layer of straw. Pure straw is preferred because it is clean and is sometimes a little more free from weeds than other materials.

Every layer of straw should be freshly turned over as the weeds have had a chance to grow. If the straw is not turned over, it will be a waste of money.

When the straw is turned over, it will be a waste of money. When the straw is turned over, it will be a waste of money.

WORLD NEWS IN PICTURES

WAS TO BE HOME OF ROYAL COUPLE—Gutted wing of Buntinghill plane, the Windsor Forest mansion which was to have been the country home of Princess Elizabeth and Lord Philip Mountbatten after their marriage, is shown here. Fire broke out at night and half destroyed the building.

ROUND THE WORLD IN LESURELY FASHION—Clifford Evans (left), and George Truman, two former U.S. air force pilots who are flying leisurely around the world in tiny Piper Cub plane, take time out for a sandwich in London, Eng., shortly after their arrival at Croydon. They began their global trip in New Jersey on Aug. 9. They seek no records, merely aiming to prove that the world can be girdled in a light plane.

MANHATTAN RIVIERA—Two-year-old Leonard Colbitt of New York beats the heat by sitting in a tub of water and keeping the sun off him with an umbrella. Leonard also takes care of his little pup "Lucky," whom he is washing down with water. Their camera is on a fence-post on East 6th Street.

MOTORCYCLISTS PROVIDE THRILLS—Roaring around the half-mile fairground track at Brantford, Ont., motorcyclists from many Ontario points provided thrills, but only one spill, for spectators at the Rogers Racing club's first annual meet. Only one racer was thrown in the 12 events, and he left the track unscathed. Percy Foulis of Galt won easily in the four-mile novice class and the two-mile event in the same class. T. J. McConnell of Woodstock won the four-mile endurance.

BEAUTY CONTEST WINNERS—Five top beauties of the continent are shown at Atlantic City as Miss America of 1947. Barbara Jo Walker as Miss Memphis, is crowned by Marilyn Buford of California, who was Miss America of 1946. Runners-up are, from left, Miss Alabama, 4th; Miss Minnesota, 2nd; Miss Canada, 3rd; Miss California, 5th.

PREPARING TO BATTLE MILLIONAIRE HUSBAND—Preparing to face her husband in a Kitchener, Ont., court battle, Mrs. Evelyn McKee (left), is seen in Detroit with her playdaughter, Cynthia McKee (center), and Mrs. R. Stiglman, a former Los Angeles neighbor. Both will testify for Mrs. McKee, who is seeking custody from millionaire Mark McKee of their son, Terry, six, whom the father has kept in Kitchener following separation proceedings in the U.S.

BRITAIN SETS UP COMMUNITY OF PREFABRICATED HOUSES—Coping with acute housing shortage, Britain sets up this community of 111 prefabricated houses, the largest of its kind in the British Isles, near Yeovil. Competitions encouraged the dwellers to brighten up their gardens with garages.

FIVE POUNDS OF FOOD FOR A MEAL—Biggie (the big guy), a magnificent black Great Dane, is sitting the Washington, D.C., dog pound into bankruptcy. The year-old dog eats five pounds of food at his single daily meal, about five times what an average pooch gets, and more than 16 times what his big-mouthed little friend "Buddy" packs away. Biggie, guest of the pound for 30 days, can be had for $5 by the right party, but he'll better be rich.

CHRIST'S CRUCIFIXION STUDIED—After studying the surgical aspects of the Crucifixion, Dr. J. L. Cameron, Canadian doctor now practicing in London, England, has declared that Christ had nails driven, not through his hands, as shown in this painting by Perugino, but through his wrists. Speaking at an international conference of Roman Catholic doctors in Lisbon, Dr. Cameron said that nails through the hand would not hold a body hanging from a cross, nor cause so much pain.

WON ENOUGH RIBBONS TO MAKE 15 QUILTS—Mrs. Alfred Bragg of Vaughan township, Ont., makes quilts out of the ribbons awarded her husband's cattle. In 55 years he has won enough ribbons at fall fairs to make seven full-sized quilts and there are enough ribbons left to make four or five more.

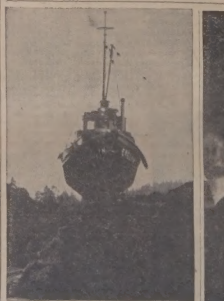

RUNS UNDER CAR WHEELS RESCUING KITTEN—Grace Diplock, 4, of Niagara Falls, Ont., is in hospital because she tried to save her pet kitten from under the wheels of a car. The driver, Oliver Gills, of Courtland, swung into a cornfield to avoid the little girl and caused the car to overturn. The kitten was uninjured.

LEUKEMIA SUFFERER—Suffering from leukemia, Susanne Kemmer of Sweden, there, is shown with her mother, Mrs. Helen Kemmer, as they arrive by plane at New York. The child is on her way to the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., for treatment. She has been ill since July.

OLD AND NEW—Old and new Japan is exemplified in this photo. The old man, Ured and disfigured, looks wearily about; the youngster looks at the world with bright eyes, unaware of his country's plight.

NO PLACE FOR A SEA-GOING LADY—High and dry on a rock after being driven ashore in a squall at Wrangell, Alaska, the tug Keweenaw was refueled at high tide noon the worse for her venture ashore.
